

EIP

New Electronics: Managing Your IPR

Companies often only realise the importance of protecting their intellectual property when it's too late; however, properly considering IP rights early on can prevent headaches later down the line.

Myra Sae Heng and Alex Morgan of EIP Legal present the case for making IP protection a top priority for new businesses in this article, published in New Electronics.