EIP host One Nucleus BioWednesday on commercialising IP

EIP will host a BioWednesday seminar for the One Nucleus life sciences network on the theme of commercialising IP from academic research.

The event takes place at EIP's London office on 4 May from 6pm-9pm and features presentations and a panel discussion with speakers from UCL Business, Cambridge Enterprise, IP Group and Tech Investor. Andrew Sharples, partner and head of EIP Life, will chair the panel discussion.

The presentations and panel discussion will be followed by a Q&A session, drinks and networking. For more information or to register, visit the One Nucleus website.
