EIP appoint three new associates

Three trainee patent attorneys have joined EIP to strengthen the team.

Felix Hall is a specialist in the chemical and physics sectors, and is based at the EIP office in Cardiff. Jake Loftus has a range of experience across computer science and mathematics, and is part of the team in Bath.

Patrick Scott joined EIP having worked as a researcher at the Large Hadron Collider at CERN in Geneva, Switzerland. He is based in the firm's London office.
