EIP to host One Nucleus BioWednesday

EIP will host a BioWednesday seminar for the One Nucleus life sciences network on securing freedom to operate and how to manage other people's IP.

The event takes place at EIP's London office on 5 April from 6pm-9pm and features presentations from Andrew Sharples of EIP, Adam Wylie of Patently, and Mike Murray of Murray International Partners. Darren Smyth, partner and head of EIP Elements, will chair the event.

The presentations will be followed by a Q&A session, drinks and networking. For more information or to register, visit the One Nucleus website.
